

Starting a Culture Impact Team

Have a passion to restore Godliness to our culture!

- Pray and ask God's guidance
- Watch online videos at our website: www.cultureimpact.us
- Share these videos with your family, friends and congregation
- Find examples of moral decay in our culture
- Find Biblical examples of why the culture is wrong (ask your pastor if needed)
- Find Biblical examples of what should change in the culture (ask your pastor if needed)

Request an appointment with your pastor

- Explain what you have read, seen and found and how God has impressed you to take action
- Explain that you wish to be a resource to him
- Explain that you wish to take work "off his plate", not add work to his busy schedule
- Explain that there is an existing format by the Family Research Council (FRC) in Washington, D.C. to form a group in your church, under his guidance and supervision, to take action to inform, educate, motivate and inspire members of your congregation to take action to restore Godliness to our culture.
- Assure him that there are people in his and in every congregation who are passionate to see these changes take place

When your pastor approves you to start a Culture Impact Team

- After sharing the videos from our website: www.cultureimpact.us have a meeting with those who share your passion to see Godliness restored to our culture
- Organize a team of leaders to share the workload and to bring a diversity of input, ideas, skills and interests
- Plan what meeting topics are relevant to the current cultural challenges and issues
- Explore what speakers can provide expertise to your group:
 - State and local legislators

- Faith-based organizations (Crisis pregnancy centers, etc.)
- Use videos for meeting content when speakers are not available
- Plan in advance for future meetings to allow time to secure and schedule speakers
- Register your Culture Impact Team with the Family Research Council at <http://www.cultureimpact.org/> then click on Take Action; then click on Culture Impact Team Signup
- Explore the resources and training videos that FRC offers
- Request a resource manual for a Culture Impact Team (Community Impact Team) and order other helpful resources
- Connect with us by email at: info@cultureimpactteams.com for help
- Have your first meeting and ask God to empower you and your team to change the culture!
